Emily Peasgood, Composer, Librettist, Artist

Emily Peasgood is a composer and sound artist who aims to challenge what music is believed to be, from the venue it is performed in to the people who perform it. Her research-led work is created for galleries and public spaces and ranges from large-scale community-led performances to intimate sound installations. Her work explores the value and perception of music, connecting people with overlooked environments, and is often rooted in current political realities. As a multi-disciplinary artist Emily often collaborates with writers, visual artists and sign language interpreters to create accessible and inclusive experiences that engage people in more ways than through the medium of sound alone. www.emilypeasgood.com
